OVERVIEW

When a Minister from a corrupt African government flees in exile to London, a group of Special Forces are recruited to return him home to face trial.

SYNOPSIS

Catching A Thief is a modern day version of the 1984 Dikko Affair which took place in London. A Nigerian Minister who stole millions and fled the country, was set upon by the new president with the aim to forcibly repatriate him to stand trial. With the help of Mossad Agents and a Nigerian Secret Service agent, the team set about planning his capture.

Set in London's present day, taking into account modern technology and the grittiness of a more urban London, the four men will have just 48 hours to find the Minister and capture him...but are they being sabotaged from within?
